

12 Art Installations Transform The Mediterranean Seabed

By Sam Helmy October 22, 2025

A new initiative has transformed the seabeds of Gozo in Malta, Alonissos in Greece and Ustica in Italy into open-air marine museums featuring 12 permanent works of art.

The new works are by 24 artists, and were completed in partnership with the UN Decade of Ocean Science for Sustainable Development and ART4SEA.

During their time on the islands, the artists explored seabeds, coastlines and local culture, transforming scientific data and environmental observations into physical and digital artworks that inform and inspire conservation efforts. These shallow works of art are accessible to snorkelers and divers alike, turning the seabed into meeting places where art and nature converge.

Key underwater installations

- Trajectories by Giacomo Rizzo (Gozo) – a vessel-shaped sculpture placed in Xwejni Bay that evokes the memory of Earth while encouraging new life.
- Aetas by Micol Cornali (Alonissos) – sited in Agios Dimitrios Bay, this piece straddles myth and pollution, challenging viewers to rethink humanity's relationship with the sea.
- The Queen of the Corals by Davide Galbiati (Ustica) – a reclining female figure in Cala Giaccone symbolising the fusion of humans and nature and urging renewed care for marine ecosystems.

Land and Digital Works

Aside from submerged sculptures, ART4SEA installed marine sculptures, murals, mosaics and coastal works that celebrate Mediterranean biodiversity and myths. Notable land pieces include "Calypso" and "Symbiosis" in Gozo, "Life Synchrony" and "Blue Diver" in Alonissos and murals "Beneath the Surface" and "Guardians" in Ustica.

Also, 12 digital works, including virtual reality experiences, sound art and immersive videos are hosted on the ART4SEA website, extending access to non-divers. Providing non-diving and snorkeling enthusiasts with access to these works.

Commenting about the new project, Fabio Figurella, EU project coordinator for DAN Europe, stated:

"Every dive is a testament to the beauty and fragility of the sea. With ART4SEA, divers are not just visitors: they become ambassadors for conservation, able to tell what is happening below the surface and inspire real change."
